

Askioua Kamal

Frontend developer

PROFILE

I'm a web developer switching fields after graduating with a BA in Economics. I've dreamed about getting to tech since i was a kid writing html in a note file smiling after it renders in the browser. i love the sense of accomplishment coding gives after doing even the little tasks, and how rewarding the feeling is. problem solving and consistent learning is two of the most skills that i try to build day after day because i know they are the keys to make a good developer.
